21. Supervised learning is an algorithm that we use to classify the data that contains label.