23) Regression analysis is a technique to identify the the relationship between features and to output the continuous value prediction.